

HELPFUL INFORMATION

Insure Your Kitten's Health with Pet Insurance

Pet insurance can provide coverage for preventive or wellness care, but it is best utilized to help pet owners deal with the cost of major medical or emergency situations. It can help provide pet lovers with peace of mind and allow for health care decisions to be made in the best interest of their pet and not driven by finances.

The American Animal Hospital Association provides information to help guide the pet owner's in selecting a policy that would be best for them. In general, these are policies that have a high deductible, but low monthly premiums and are designed to support pet owners at a time of serious medical situations.

We do not promote any specific pet insurance company, but choosing a well established company that offers a policy with the AAHA seal of approval is a great way to help you provide the very best care for your four legged family members.

WHY IS A 'PARASITE CHECK' ON MY KITTEN IMPORTANT?

WHAT IS A ZOO NOTIC DISEASE?

Zoonoses, or zoonotic diseases, are those diseases that can be transmitted directly or indirectly from animals to humans. For example, some worms can be transmitted in the environment.

PETS, PARASITES AND PEOPLE

Cats are not just pets. They are treated like members of the family, and like any member of your family, it's important to keep your companion animal healthy and free of parasites. It is fairly common for a cat to become infected with an internal parasite at some point in its lifetime. Parasites can affect your pet in a variety of ways, ranging from simple irritation to causing life-threatening conditions if left untreated. Some parasites can even infect and transmit diseases to you and your family. Your veterinarian can help prevent, accurately diagnose and safely treat parasites and other health problems that not only affect your cat, but also the safety of your family.
